Student Assembly

VOL. 28, NO. 22

WASHINGTON, D. C., TUESDAY, MARCH 8, 1932

ENTERED AS SECOND CLASS MATTER
POST OFFICE, WASHINGTON, D. C.

First University Student Meeting Tomorrow Noon To Hear Kindler

Leader of Local Symphony Will Speak at Assembly in Corcoran Hall 10

Hans Kindler, world famous cellist and director of the National Symphony Orchestra, will address a University assembly, the first to be held at George Washington in a number of years, at 12:10 tomorrow in Corcoran Hall 10, according to an announcement made by Vinnie G. Barrows, director of women's personnel guidance.

This universal assembly is a fitting innovation in the University program, to honor a great musician who has already won great popularity among music lovers of Washington and of the University. The assembly is the first of several student convocations which will be held in the near future.

Many George Washington students have attended the concerts of the National Symphony Orchestra, whose season has just been completed, and the Symphony Club of the University has occupied a block of seats throughout the course, and has made a study of the programs.

Kindler was born in Holland. He came of a musical family and his father was at one time a member of one of Wagner's symphony orchestras. When he was eighteen, Hans went to Berlin and played a cello at the Opera. In 1914, as a youth of 21 he came to America for a short visit but was detained by the World War passport limitations. He became first cellist with the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra and since then has attained world-wide fame as a soloist. His willingness to become conductor of the National Symphony Orchestra was of inestimable benefit to Washington.

"Be Open-minded," Says Drama Critic

Mrs. McKenzie Urges Appreciation Group to Forget Prejudice.

"Drama is an art, and a play has been said to be the shortest distance from the actors to the audience," stated Mrs. McKenzie, in her talk to the Drama Appreciation Club, Wednesday night in Lambie House.

Mrs. McKenzie has had considerable experience in all phases of dramatic art, for she is on the production staff of the local Drama Guild, and besides being a well-known critic and teacher, has been, herself, on the stage.

Continuing, she emphasized the fact that a critic should be open-minded and without prejudices, in order to receive the fullest measure of appreciation from the performance. The six schools of drama, their ideals, and the stage settings that went with them, were explained by the speaker. They include: classicism, romanticism, naturalism, realism, impressionism, and the newest type which has come from Russia, constructionism. Mrs. McKenzie pointed out that whatever the type may be, the play seeks to give the playwright's interpretation of life and should be judged as such.

"There are five standards for a good critic," she said, "Plot, theme, dialogue, production, and characterization, and if a play emphasizes one of these unduly, the result will seem distorted." She gave an example of this, in mentioning Earl Carroll's Vanities, where all the effort is spent in production.

In conclusion, she urged the members to keep, above all, an open mind, to be broad-minded, modest, and not too critical.

Student Council Issues Warning

Dates for all functions, at which persons not affiliated with the organization will be present, must be applied for in the Lambie House, building Z, first floor, two weeks before the requested date. The application card, which may be obtained in Building Z, must be completely filled out. A reply to a request for a date will be mailed immediately by the Social Calendar Chairman.

Three chaperons are required for all functions attended by both men and women.

Hour Glass Honor Society Will Pledge Outstanding Women

Underclassmen Taken to Task for Apparent Lack of Interest in Activities

Pledging ceremonies of Hour Glass Honor Society will take place Thursday night at 7 p. m. in the Pi Beta Phi rooms, on which occasion Louise Rhea, Berryman, Edith Brookhart, Ruth DeVane, Evelyn Eller, Cecilia Harrington, Louise James, Ruth Molyneux, Pauline Schaub, and Kathleen Watkins will be present.

Hour Glass is an organization formed for the purpose of promoting interest in extracurricular activities by recognition of women prominent in this field of work. Outstanding ability and fulfillment of scholastic requirements were the criterion for the selection of these women.

Louise Berryman has been active in athletics, both intramural and varsity, and was for four years a member of the W. A. A. Panhellenic work has also kept her busy, and the office of president was awarded to her this year. She was cast in a leading part in the Troubadour production of 1932. As a charter member of Sigma Delta Phi, honorary speech arts sorority she has engaged in many debating activities on the campus. Louise is a member of, and holds office in Pi Beta Phi, her social fraternity, and is a pledge to Delta Phi.

Brookhart, Athletic Leader Edith Brookhart has been a leader in athletics, being on the varsity soccer team for three years, varsity swimming team for two years, manager of swimming and member of the Swimming Club, and a member of the W. A. A. Board. She has served on the staff of the Cherry Tree, and is a

Hatchet Literary Section Will Offer Play-writing Prize

Supplement Sponsors One-act Drama Writing Contest; Winner Will Be Published in May Issue

The Literary Supplement to The University Hatchet, in response to repeated requests, will sponsor a one-act play contest. The judges selected for the contest are Professors Courtland Darke Baker and Ernest Sewell Shepherd, and Miss Constance Brown, members of the English Department. Mr. Paul Pearlman has offered to donate the prize book, Sheldon Cheney's "The Theatre: 3,000 Years of Drama, Acting, and Stage-Craft." The winning play will be printed in the May issue of The Literary Supplement.

Rules for the contest are as follows:

1. Contestants must be regularly enrolled students at George Washington University.
2. A student may submit any number of manuscripts.
3. All manuscripts must be accompanied by name and address of contestant in sealed envelope.
4. Manuscripts must be typewritten on only one side of the paper.
5. No manuscripts will be returned.
6. Manuscripts must be placed in The Literary Supplement boxes at Corcoran Hall or the Publications Building.
7. Contest closes April 15, 1932.

It is hoped that this contest, a new sort in the University, will reveal much unknown talent.

Student Council Nominations Must Be Filed by April 4 for Coming Election

Balloting in Gymnasium and at Medical School, April 28, 29; Heated Contest Expected Despite Stringent Eligibility Rules

Nominations for election to the Student Council must be filed in Dean Henry Grattan Doyle's office by 6 p. m., April 4. The elections will be held April 28 and 29 in the University Gymnasium and at the Medical School.

With the first publication today of the constitution and by-laws and the announcement of the elections the student body may reach a full understanding of conditions as they really exist and the Council is ready to proceed with a flawless election. During the last year the Council has won the support of the student body and it is expected there will be a heated contest for most of the positions. Candidates have four weeks in which to get their petitions filed.

On April 5 and 6 the eligibility of the candidates will be checked. Candidates who have not complied with all requirements will then be given three days to make all corrections. A complete list of all candidates will be posted and published April 11.

The eligibility requirements are:

- 1. A candidate must be enrolled in the department he seeks to represent.
- 2. He must be in good academic standing.
- 3. He must have completed a minimum of 15 semester hours work in this University at the time of his nomination.

The procedure is:

- 1. A candidate must have a petition in the form of a nomination signed by at least 5% of the students in the department he seeks to represent.
- 2. A candidate must sign an affidavit to the effect that, to the best of his knowledge, he will be enrolled in the department from which he is a candidate for the ensuing year.

If a department is entitled to only one representative, no student shall sign more than one petition.

If a department is entitled to more than one representative no student in that department shall sign a greater number of petitions than the number of representatives that department is entitled to. If this by-law is violated, the name shall be stricken from all petitions whereon it appears.

Petitions must be filed with Mrs. Tappley in Dean Doyle's office, building H, on G Street, before 6 p. m., April 4. Printed petition and affidavit forms and instructions may be obtained there.

In the following table may be found the number of representatives to which each department is entitled, and the number of students necessary to nominate a candidate in each department:

Name of School	Number of Representatives	No. of Students Necessary to Nominate
Columbian College	20	20
Education	1	1
Engineering	1	1

Nine Bids Extended Women Journalists Council Announces

Banner Bedecked Boxes of Each Group Will Add to Affair's Appearance

Patrons and patronesses for the Interfraternity Prom at the Shoreham ballroom Friday, March 18, will be headed by President and Mrs. Cloyd Heck Marvin. Accompanying will be Provost and Mrs. William Allen Wilbur, Dean and Mrs. Charles E. Hill, Dean and Mrs. William Cabell Van Vleet, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Barrows, Dean and Mrs. John Raymond Layman, Dean and Mrs. Earl Baldwin McKinley, and Acting Dean William Cullen French.

The usual custom will be followed of allotting a box to each of the twelve fraternities of the Council, and special privileges have been extended to organizations not members of the group to reserve boxes. Among these latter are Delta Phi Epsilon, Gamma Eta Gamma, The Friars, Sigma Theta Delta, and the Wandering Greeks.

Chairman John T. Vivian announces that the management of the Shoreham has extended to patrons of the Prom the privilege of using the garage in the basement of the hotel for parking at 25 cents per car.

Programs will be presented at the door. The plan is to allow "cutting" until 11 o'clock. From 11 to 12 the program will be in effect, with cutting of the third number of each group, at the conclusion of which a flashlight picture will be recorded of the group.

Student Council Adopts New Constitution

In a determined effort to eliminate all errors from its future activities and deliberations the Student Council, after painstaking and deliberate investigation, has evolved what it believes to be a fool-proof Constitution for the government of the Student Body of this University.

The new body of rules and regulations, extremely simple in style, superseding the ancient and dilapidated constitution which the present Council received as a legacy from the Student Council of 1920-21, and which was the cause of innumerable misunderstandings in the elections of April, 1931, and other Council activities during the past three semesters.

Probably the most important features of the new Constitution are its provisions for representation of the various divisions and schools of the University and for conduct of elections, both of which have proved sources of bitter discontent.

Where in the past each department has been entitled to an additional representative on the Council for students

Law School Dinner And Dance Feature Attraction of Week

Hon. James G. Rogers Will Speak; Dr. and Mrs. Marvin Guests of Honor

The seventeenth annual dinner of the Law School of The George Washington University will be held on Saturday, March 12, at 7 p. m., at the Willard Hotel. Dancing will follow to the music of Sydney's Mayflower Orchestra. Tickets are obtainable from any member of the student committee, or from the office of the secretary of the Law School.

The Hon. James Grafton Rogers, assistant secretary of state, who is Dean of the University of Colorado Law School (on leave of absence), will speak on "The Role of the Lawyer in International Affairs." Rogers, himself a lawyer, has during the last few months played a most important role in international affairs, particularly in the Sino-Japanese conflict. His remarks will be based on the most recent practical experience in moving crises. Mr. Rogers is an experienced charming, and modest speaker and his close contact with governmental affairs will make his remarks all the more important. In addition to Mr. Rogers, other honor guests will be President and Mrs. Cloyd Heck Marvin; Chief Justice and Mrs. Alfred A. Wheat; and Mr. Henry C. Davis, a member of the board of trustees. Dean William Cabell Van Vleet will be toastmaster.

Groups Attending

The dinner will be held in the private dining room of the hotel, in which tables will be laid seating an average of ten persons each. Reservations for complete tables will be received by the Law School office until March 11. Tables seating a few more or less than

Columbian Women's Fourth Fund Named After Late Member

Newly Established Chamberlin Scholarship Will Honor Past President of Organization

The newly established Columbian Women's scholarship fund to maintain a fourth girl in George Washington University will be named in honor of the late Mrs. Grace Ross Chamberlin, prominent civic worker and club woman, who for many years was an outstanding member of Columbian Women and at one time was president. This action was taken at a meeting held March 1.

Columbian Women until recently have maintained three girls on scholarships at George Washington and have administered three other partial scholarships but at a meeting on January 5 it was decided to establish another fund of $500 for a fourth complete award.

At the March 1 meeting the revised constitution and by-laws were perfected and adopted. Resolutions of thanks were extended to Mrs. D. Kerfoot Shute, chairman of the Constitution Revision Committee and the members who cooperated with her in this important work.

Mrs. Edgar William Woolard, chairman of the Literature Section, announces that the section will meet at the A. A. U. W. Club House, 1634 Eye Street, today, at 4:30 o'clock.

Hauptmann Talk Tonight Features Special Meeting Honoring Goethe

102 Student Societies Function on Campus

Fraternities and Sororities Head List on Record in Personnel Office

From records on file in the Personnel Office it has been estimated that there are 102 student organizations on the campus, with a total enrollment of 2,071 students. The larger groups consist of:

Members
Greek letter fraternities..... 17
Greek letter sororities..... 13
Professional fraternities..... 19
Professional sororities..... 7
Home fraternities..... 12

There are 34 clubs of various sorts covering every possible field of interest. There are Departmental clubs, such as the Swisher History Club and Le Cercle Francais, activity-interest groups such as the Glee Club, Cue and Curtain, and the Fine Arts Clubs such as the Modern Poetry Club, the Symphony Club, and the Drama Appreciation Club. These have a total membership of 819. Membership is doubtless duplicated in many instances.

Secretaries whose rest has been disturbed by letters from the Provost's office requesting data, may now appreciate with pride the grand total which their individual efforts have built up.

Women's Education Club Will Hear Jane Carroll

Members of The Women's Education Club will hear Miss Jane Carroll speak on "Trends in Character Education in Elementary Schools," and Miss Bertie Backus on "Functions of the Junior High School in the Educational System with Particular Reference to Character Education" Thursday, March 10, at 8 p. m., in Lambie House. Miss Carroll is professor of Elementary Education and head of Teacher Training at the Kansas State Teachers' College. As principal of the Deal Junior High School in Washington, Miss Backus is well known to those in educational work.

Following the two addresses will be a discussion period which this group of young women are making an interesting feature of their organization. Everyone is encouraged to take part, either by expressing her own views or asking questions to clarify her information. Women interested in education are cordially invited to attend.

A New Era?

Political platforms, campaign speeches, and all the ballyhoo that goes with genuine electioneering are promised us in the coming Student Council elections, and, judging from the interest shown thus far, we are bound to have more successful results than have been attained in the past.

Nominations are due Monday, April 4, immediately after the Easter holiday period. This will give the candidates ample time to prepare and file petitions and have them passed upon by the elections committee. Publication of the constitution and by-laws of the Council reveals to the students the "workings" of their governing body, and they can enter into the elections with a full understanding and knowledge of just what it's all about.

The indefiniteness, uncertainty, and inefficient methods of the former Council have apparently been abolished. The requirements for eligibility, the procedure for nomination and the rules of election present a clear-cut proposition, and no misunderstandings should result regarding any of the matter set forth in this issue of The Hatchet.

One of the greatest difficulties which faced the old council at last year's elections was the condition which existed in the Junior College. A student was required to have 45 hours credit to be eligible for nomination. Under the new ruling only 15 hours are required, so that a student entering the University in September may run in the spring elections, and will be able to retain his status as a representative of Junior College during the entire following year. Freshmen are still barred from representation, which is as it should be. The first year students look to the upperclassmen to show them the way.

Successful nominees will be announced and published April 12. Elections are scheduled for April 28 and 29. Thus approximately 16 days have been allowed for organization, formation of platforms, campaigning, and all the other publicity which will help promote a universal election by creating a commanding interest among the entire student body. Real competition should result—not merely the "wash-out" rivalry between fraternal organizations, the membership of which comprises only a small part of the registration of the University—but competition based upon ideals.

Every student will have ample time in which to acquaint himself with the various candidates and their qualifications and disqualifications. He will be enabled, in voting, to cast his ballot for the nominee he personally believes will best represent his school during the ensuing year—the nominee who will do the most to carry out the basic purposes of a student council.

The present council has won the confidence of at least a part of the students during the past year. It has exhibited an earnest desire to accomplish. Notable among its achievements during its term are the organization and formation of a University band, the reorganization of the social calendar, and now, the drafting of a simple, forceful set of regulations for elections.

The forthcoming campaign should result in a heated contest on firm ground.

World News

BY RICHARD C. MARKS

The kidnapping and seemingly futile attempt to recover the baby of Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh stole the front pages last week from all other domestic and world news. So commonly known is the story, however, that it need not be repeated here. One thing is evident, nevertheless; the incident has brought a revival of early twentieth century sentimentality that has pulled the heart strings of millions of people throughout the civilized (?) world.

Henry Ford is expected to have his new model 4 and V8 on public display this week. He says he is staking his entire fortune on this bold attempt to aid the economic recovery of the nation. He plans to build 1,500,000 cars this year—a tremendous increase over the total automobile production in 1931.

Last week brought a sorry prospect for those members of the House of Representatives who have been fighting a "showdown" on the prohibition question. Enough names were secured to a petition to force a vote on the repeal proposal. While the measure is doomed for defeat on March 14, it will enable the country to know just how each congressman stands on the wet-dry matter.

Other important developments on the Hill include the House approval of a Federal sales tax on manufacturers; the presidential signature to the Glass-Steagall bill to expand credit to the extent of $2,500,000,000 should it be deemed necessary, and the passage of the bill to distribute 40,000,000 bushels of wheat to suffering citizens and their livestock, through existing agencies.

On the international front, the disarmament conference at Geneva declared a recess to make way for a special session of the League of Nations Assembly to consider the Far East "war." Meanwhile the Japanese have placed "Mr. Henry Pu Yi" as a puppet ruler of the new "Manchurian Republic of Ankuo." This gentleman is none other than the former boy-emperor of China and the last of the great Manchu dynasty.

CHIPS

Rollo begins this week's effort in a nervous state, having emerged from the storm only to find himself beset by oozy, gooey paste, with which the Cherry Tree Staff has successfully covered every article in The Hatchet Office, including the backs of the photos.

LATEST NEWS FLASH FROM BATTLE FRONT. C. Manley Zilch, Commander in Chief of the Anti Corsage for Prom forces, reports a slight gain on all fronts, although the femmes continue a desultory sniping of nasty epithets on Woosung Fort (Chinese for Interfraternity Council members.)

Rooked again! The pocketbooks of the male population began to feel the shock of that drive for funds for the Pan-Hel Prom, which started last Saturday night. In case you forget, it's "free" for men. Are you telling us?

The sands of time have slipped again and Hour Glass gets a couple more "outstanding women" even if they did have to join the Bassoon or Harmonica Clubs to get those needed extra points.

At last the vaunted Big Three in sorority fighting is disrupted. The A. D. P's come through with a bang and land right over top of the Chi O's. Eleventh to third isn't a bad batting average. What do you think?

The appearance of that dress which led the Prom last year on Kitty Blake, at the Delt Dance, lends us to wonder if the same dress is going to lead the Prom this year. Just an old Honduran tradition, we suppose.

What's in a name? Plenty! When it's a dance, you pay a slug; but when Cook and Howard call it a Cotillion, they collect two and a half smackers. This presents a new angle on commercial enterprise. Page our campus economists!

After reviewing that feature on slang expressions all we can say is "Aw Nertz." And, by gum, that wasn't even mentioned in it, either.

S. A. E. celebrated its seventy-fifth anniversary here March 5. Rudy Vallee and Bobby Jones regret not being able to appear in the flesh, but have sent new photographs with genuine signatures for the purpose of impressing next year's rushees. Now isn't that sweet? Your mashie, Mr. Jones, here comes Rudy!

We can't help wondering how many Phi Deltas forgot their purses when they landed at Child's after that leap year fiasco last week. Men, be on your guard, the marital hoot owl barks behind such tomfooleries.

Little Rollo is informed that the latest campus club to add to that 102 is not a club but merely a gathering known as "Cue and Curtain." The best act for this "gathering" is to take the cue and ring down the curtain.

The announcement that a local fraternity boasts a private dining room wherein to dunk their doughnuts reminds us of the high school smoothies who held forth at a private table from which swung their moniker "Singa Songa Saps" or sumpin. Just a reincarnation, we suppose. Anyhow, it pays to advertise.

Here's a tip for publicity seekers. Our "poisonality goll" fell off a three-legged chair last week, and this week—presto—she makes "Who's Who on Our Campus." One at a time, please—there's only one three-legged chair.

Lyman gives a swimming party for the swimming team. The postman takes a hike on his vacation—Slicker visits an insane asylum on his day off. There's nothing like diversion for recreation.

We wonder if Arthur Goozh "gooooed" his way into the hearts of Tau Alpha Omega.

DICK ROLLO.

H. L. Mencken, editor of the American Mercury, says that undergraduate literary work is atrocious, and that present entrance standards make it impossible to expect a group of intelligent students.

Light up... Convince Yourself that Chesterfields Satisfy

FLIP OPEN a pack of Chesterfields! Help yourself to a cigarette... Light up... and let's get the facts.

Mister... you're dead right. They're milder!

It's no secret in tobacco circles that Chesterfield buys the finest tobaccos that grow... Turkish and Domestic... sun-ripened, mellow, pure!

Chesterfields are blended first... then cross-blended... to make them milder... and milder still! There's no mistaking that rare balance of flavor built up by Cross-Blending. You enjoy it in every fragrant puff!

Even the cigarette paper is different. Cleaner, whiter, tasteless... the purest that money can buy.

Listen, smokers... this is straight. You can't put taste in a cigarette... unless quality goes in, too.

Pass your verdict on Chesterfield's Radio Program, too! Nat Shilkret's 35-piece Orchestra with Alex Gray, soloist, are on the Columbia Network every night except Sunday, at 10:30 Eastern Standard Time.

Revised Eligibility Rules for Murals

Major Students in Women's Physical Education Barred

Revised eligibility rules for participation in Intra-Murals were passed at the meeting of the Women's Intra-Murals board on February 29. These rules are: All major students in Physical Education shall be excluded from all participation in Intra-Murals, and all women holding a major or minor letter in any major or minor sport shall be excluded from participation in all Intra-Murals sports.

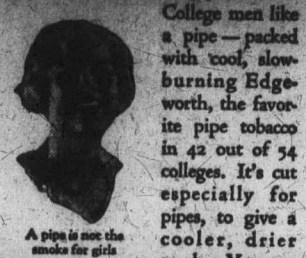

The purpose of Intra-Murals is to offer athletic activity to those women not participating in class sports because of lack of time or interest. These new rules aim not only to uphold this purpose, but also to draw out the individual not particularly skilled in athletics. By excluding women who are skilled and interested enough in sports to deserve a letter or to become a major student, the board feels that the organizations participating in Intra-Murals will then compose their teams of the women for whom this system of athletic competition is primarily designed.

No wonder men smoke PIPES!

EVERY PIPE SMOKER has the satisfaction of knowing he has one masculine right that the women won't take away from him. They do leave our pipes alone.

And though the girls may not know it, they're leaving us one of the finest smokes a man can have. There's something calm and soothing about a pipe and good tobacco. It leads to clear-headed thinking. Perhaps that's why the leaders—the real men of the world—are pipe smokers.

College men like a pipe—packed with cool, slow-burning Edgeworth, the favorite pipe tobacco in 42 out of 54 colleges. It's cut especially for pipes, to give a cooler, drier smoke. You can buy Edgeworth wherever good tobacco is sold. Or for a special sample packet, write to Larus & Bro. Co., 105 S. 23d St., Richmond, Va.

A pipe is not the smoke for girls.

EDGEWORTH SMOKING TOBACCO

Edgeworth is a blend of fine old burleys, with its natural savor enhanced by Edgeworth's distinctive and exclusive eleven-step process. Buy Edgeworth anywhere in two forms—Edgeworth Ready-Rubbed and Edgeworth Plug Slice. All sizes, 15¢ per package to $1.50 per pound humidifier tin.

Mary Louise Yauch Wins Gold Medal in Rifle Match

The beginners individual rifle match was won by Mary Louise Yauch, who made a score of 94 out of a possible 100. She is a freshman in the university and, like the rest of the entrants in this match, had not done any shooting before last fall.

Second place was won by a junior, Mary Claxton, with a score of 93; and Eleanor King, another sophomore, also made 93 points.

The others among the high ten were Marjorie Burford, 92; Edwina Seal, 91; Lois Gray, 90; Jean Christie, 88; Judy Birge, 87; and Lucia Booth, 87.

A gold medal will be awarded to Mary Louise Yauch at the W. A. A. banquet this month.

Women Participating in Exhibition Friday

Physical Education Students Present Example of Class Work

The Women's Physical Education Department is offering for the friends and families of the students in their classes, an exhibition on March 11, at 8 p. m., in the George Washington University gymnasium.

This exhibition is not being given with the idea of presenting a finished group, but to show those interested just what the department is trying to accomplish with their classes.

The freshman class will present a Danish gymnastic drill, pyramid building and elementary tumbling. The group of freshmen this year are promising and their part in the affair should be a prominent one.

As a more experienced and advanced group, the sophomores will give their interpretation of a Serbian Folk Dance, a Parisian Polka, and an Athletic Dance.

The regular tap dancing class is working hard on what it calls the Banjo Handclap Jig and a Boxing Clog.

To add an air of competition there will be basketball games between the odd and even classes, and an inter-class relay race.

What actually takes place in an individual gym class will be revealed to the public for the first time, when the major classes will direct such a class.

It is hoped that this exhibition will be well attended not only that the Stall itself will be encouraged, but also that the students will feel the interest of others in their work.

Slated for March 23

W. A. A. Mid-Winter Banquet Will Be Held at Kennedy-Warren

Extensive plans for what purports to be another successful W. A. A. Mid-Winter Banquet on March 23 are under way. Edith Grosvenor, social chairman, has obtained the spacious Kennedy-Warren, which will be decorated by the class managers for this affair.

Tables for each class will be decorated by the respective class managers in the class colors. Freshmen and sophomores will have separate tables, while juniors and seniors will share a table together.

The guests that have been invited are: President and Mrs. Marvin, Mrs. Vinnie G. Barrows, Mrs. Joshua Evans, Dr. and Mrs. French, Dr. and Mrs. Borden, and Miss Harriet Atwell, president of Orchestra.

SPORT AXE

By GORDON V. POTTER

'Twas said that trip northward was rather disastrous for G. W. However, I think that we can be assured that our "boys of basketball" did their best for losing three games by a total of only 5 points is really not so bad, after all.

It is very possible that the Colonial five might have accomplished a good deal more if a contingent of G. W. U. students had accompanied the outfit and given them both verbal and moral support. Just a suggestion?

Amusing incidents—it seems that the boys accompanied by the manager, Jack Vivian, and the coaches, Jim Pilee, and Max Farrington, were partaking of their evening meal in one of the more portentous hotels of Philadelphia—the Hotel Walton. As usual, young Vivian, and not quite so young Farrington were exchanging quips with one of the delightful waitresses, as she seemed rather interested in the group from Washington. Finally after beating about the bush considerably, Jack asked "Where is the Palais Royal?" (This being the hall where the basketball game was to be played.)

"Down—Street a few blocks," the waitress replied, "but the floor is not so hot."

Jack, rather amazed at the reference to the floor, said, "What is the matter with the floor and besides we don't care about the floor."

"Aren't you fellows the new orchestra?" was her query.

"Why, no," emphatically declared Vivian, "We're going to play basketball."

"Oh! I thought that you belonged to the new orchestra that is going to play at the Palais Royal," stated the pretty waitress, "and I thought that he (pointing to Jack Connor), was the flute player." This was told to me and vouched for by a responsible party.

Max Farrington, evidently, is rather an important looking personage. While standing and gazing at the many tall buildings in the Big City (New York) waiting for the rest of the athletes to join them in a ride aboard a "rubber-neck" but (being an auto bus with glass top) he was accosted by two young ladies as to the amount of the fare for the trip.

"$1.50 apiece," was Max's reply. With no further questioning the young ladies forthwith handed over their respective one-fifties and boarded the bus.

The car being chartered for our doughty basketballers, the young ladies found themselves the sole female passengers for the trip throughout New York... and so everybody must have enjoyed themselves. Incidentally Max was $3 to the good.

Just boys from the country... Max Farrington gave a nickel each to Wick Parrack and Ty Hertzler in order that they might enjoy themselves riding the subway in the "Big Stem."

Ask one variety man why he refused to sleep with another on the trip—a lot of people would be interested?

Dr. Surface Speaks To Economic Group

Commerce and Economics Fraternity Considers Distribution Problems

Unlike the scientific management that has characterized the production of goods, there has been no great scientific approach to the problems of distribution of these goods to consumers. Dr. Frank M. Surface, assistant director of the U. S. Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, told members at the G. W. Commerce and Economics Fraternity at an open meeting last Wednesday.

Dr. Surface, who will conduct a special economics class in the principles of merchandising at the University's summer sessions this year, is one of the nation's best informed authorities in the field of domestic commerce. His speech was one of a series sponsored by the commerce fraternity to provide students a direct contact with the economic affairs of the government.

G. Douglas Taylor, president of the commerce fraternity, announced that the next "round table conference" of the group would be held Wednesday, March 16, on the subject of "Federal Tax Measures, New and Old." Considerable success has attended these sessions, Taylor said.

Five representatives of the fraternity attended the student conference on "National Planning" at Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, last Saturday. They are: Fred Joiner, Ralph Gilby, George Jarvis, Fred Waller and Richard C. Marks.

Not Many College Atheists
Less than five per cent of college students are atheists, and 24 per cent of them find prayer valuable in strengthening the will or moral power. It was also revealed, in a survey conducted by Dr. Herbert W. Searles, of the University of Southern California, that 81 per cent of the students enrolled in five colleges profess implicit faith in God. Professor Searles believes that the general trend of students though is from a belief in a personal God to a belief in an impersonal God, and away from orthodoxy.

Court opponents of George Washington achieved four victories over our athletes by the small total of 11 points. Not bad!

The fish again triumphed and over the natators from Duke University. This victory is particularly gratifying after last week's demise.

Max Rote, George Washington's premier swimmer, is contemplating trying out for the Olympics pending his performance in the South Atlantic Meets to be held in the near future.

Vituperation evidently has no effect on the seemingly apathetic student body and possibly, the faculty, as neither a letter, nor a word, has come to me concerning my little effort of two weeks ago relative to the need of immediate construction of a gymnasium to replace our notorious "Tin Tabernacle" and also re the lacrosse suggestion.

Our footballers are gambling on the greensward again in their yearly "Spring Practice." I suppose in preparation for that fearful array of contests that has been arranged for next fall. Perhaps next week there will be few interesting (I hope) tales to relate concerning the same and perhaps some marvelous gridiron find in the person of a new aspirant who is rather extraordinary and all that sort of thing to write about. However, we shall see?

Women's Rifle Team Awaits Match Results

Has Held First Place in National Competition—Three Out of Four Years

The George Washington University women's rifle team has completed all three stages of the intercollegiate team championship which was shot during the month of February. The results of the match will be announced by the National Rifle Association sometime in the near future. G. W. won first place in this match for four consecutive years, but last year they lost first place to Maryland University by three points.

It is possible for each woman who shoots to make 200 points in each stage, making a total of 600 for each member of the team. The five highest scores of each stage are the only ones which count in the match.

The high five of the first stage are Virginia Dillman 196, Emera Johnson 197, Evelyn Kerr 194, Grace White 198, and Ruth White 194. The high five in the second stage are Virginia Dillman 195, Caroline Seibert 196, Grace White 199, Virginia Sheffield 196, and Ruth White 194. In the third stage the high five are Emera Johnson 199, Lois Corea 197, Virginia Sheffield 197, Grace White 196, and Ruth Schmidt 196.

Upperclass Women Score in Basketball

Juniors, Seniors Win Second Round of Sports in Exciting Games

In the second round of the women's interclass basketball, the freshmen went down in defeat before the juniors to the count of 20-16, while the seniors walloped the sophomores 46-19.

After being a bit dazed by a whirlwind opening in which the rookies obtained a 10-5 lead, the juniors settled down to win, tying the score 12-12 at the half. However, the freshmen again obtained a lead because of the beautiful defensive play of the freshmen, Reba Barton and Virginia Pope, who rarely let the ball reach the junior end of the floor.

At the opening of the third quarter, the juniors obtained the tip-off and succeeded in keeping the ball. Helen Chace scored two baskets and a foul which, with two points brought in by Jane Hill, swung the juniors to victory in the fastest and prettiest game of the season.

The sophomores started their game with a bang, Henrietta Hobson scoring a basket in the first ten minutes of play, but throughout the remainder of the game they were completely outclassed by the seniors whose high powered forwards, Jean McGregor and Janice Hyatt rarely missed the hoop.

The efficient guarding of Kay McCallum made the attempts of the sophs to slip in a goal futile, though the sophomores succeeded in getting the ball within shooting distance numerous times.

In the first round of this tournament, on February 26, the seniors put up a plucky fight only to be defeated by the juniors, while the sophomores were handed a 23-7 drubbing by the freshmen.

Chi Sigma Gamma Holds Formal Initiation for Two

Chi Sigma Gamma, honorary chemical fraternity for women, held initiation Thursday night, March 3, for Emera Johnson and Elizabeth Kohler. The formal ceremony, which was preceded by a mock initiation, took place at the home of Dorothy Blair. Marie O'Day, who founded the fraternity at George Washington in 1922, is now in the city and attended the initiation.

Women's Rifle Team Shoots Match with Drexel Institute

The George Washington University women's rifle team shot a telegraphic match with Drexel Institute Saturday, March 5. The scores from Drexel have not yet been received. The G. W. women making the five highest scores of the team were as follows:

Evelyn Kerr	100
Grace White	99
Ruth White	99
Lois Corea	98
Virginia Sheffield	98
Total	494

Class Teams Attend Basketball Play Day

Contests Between Seniors of George Washington and Goucher Is Exciting

Fifty George Washington women went to Baltimore by bus Saturday to participate in a triangular basketball play day with Hood and Goucher Colleges. This group was composed of four class teams, each of which played one half of a game with corresponding teams from Hood and Goucher.

The games were played in the two gymnasiums of Forest Park High School in Baltimore. All of the contests were exciting and well played, but the battle between the G. W. seniors and the Goucher seniors was outstanding in skill and interest, ending in 28-28 tie.

After the last game, the three groups were entertained at supper at the Alumnae House at Goucher College. A program of character clogs, presented by the Goucher dancing classes, was the final event on the play day schedule.

This Hood-Goucher-George Washington basketball play day has become an annual event, and a spirit of friendly but keen competition exists among the schools. The teams have caught the true play day spirit, which is athletic competition for the sheer joy of playing rather than for the sole purpose of defeating one's opponents.

G. W. seniors—28	Goucher seniors—28
G. W. juniors—4	Goucher juniors—9
G. W. seniors—42	Hood seniors—4
G. W. juniors—7	Hood juniors—14
G. W. sophomores—15	Goucher sophomores—20
G. W. freshmen—14	Goucher freshmen—11
G. W. sophomores—6	Hood sophomores—11
G. W. freshmen—9	Hood freshmen—26

Many Men Report At Spring Practice

Practice to Last from Four to Six Weeks for Forty-five Candidates

Forty-five men turned out for Spring football practice Monday, with the first signs of spring at Potomac Park and others are expected to get into uniform within the next week.

To date members of the squad, under the eye of coach "Len" Walsh, have been going through calisthenic drills in an effort to get into good physical condition.

This week, because of the bad weather, workouts will be held in the gymnasium. The spring season will last from four to six weeks and during the latter two or three weeks the teams will scrimmage.

There are a number of new men out for the squad and some likely losing material races over the Potomac Park turf each afternoon. Most of the new men come from the Southwest.

Kappas Badminton Victors in Playoff

Kappa Kappa Gamma was the victor in the recent Intra-Mural, badminton contest. They came out in first place by virtue of having defeated Alpha Epsilon Phi and Phi Sigma Sigma, league winners. The Kappas didn't lose a single game during the tournament, and A. E. Phi having lost only to them, came out a close second. The victorious Kappa combination was Maryvade Moses, and Rosalie Palmer. The finals played Friday, March 4, gave the following results:

Kappa winners of League B, defeated A. E. Phi winners of League C in straight games 15-2 and 15-4. K. K. G. swamped Phi Sigma Sigma, League A winners, 15-3 and 15-1. A. E. Phi won second place by defeating Phi Sigma Sigma 15-4 and 15-9.

Badminton is a popular new sport and is said to have taken Boston by storm. It is played indoors on a court similar to a tennis court. Instead of a ball, a feathered shuttle is volleyed back and forth across the net by means of small rackets. The game may be played in single or doubles form. The G. W. Intra-Mural games were played by doubles teams.

Book-laden Sprinter Meets Unexpected Splinter in Hall

The Library is quite a source of danger now. It is a common occurrence to see prominent personages tripping along, suddenly stumble awkwardly, and a few were visibly entertained the other day when a prominent coed, who was walking sedately down the upper corridor when unexpectedly a splinter appeared in her path. Needless to say, the splinter tripped our fair friend, and papers and books spread everywhere. Confused and blushing, she regained her balance without falling. At this point a chivalrous male came forward and lent his assistance.

Fraternity Bowlers Shine During Week With Four Matches

Phi Sigma Kappa, Delts, Kappa Sigma and Acacians Turn in Victories

Acacia 503, 517, 485; Sigma Chi 469, 516, 586.

Phi Sigma Kappa 547, 474, 475; Theta Upsilon Omega 459, 520, 464.
Greek bowling proceeds on its victorious way. Kappa Sigma rolled victoriously over the newcomers, Sigma Mu Sigma; the Delts likewise topped those young men of the blue-letter shirts, brothers of the Theta Delta Chi; pinning Acacians were better than the Sigma Chi aggregation; and Phi Sigma Kappa downed the doughty gentlemen of Theta Upsilon Omega. The standing of the teams will be found at the beginning of the story together with this week's scores.

As usual Kappa Sigma had little difficulty in disposing of Sigma Mu Sigma, beating them in every game with considerable margin. Stabily for the winners shone, having the high game and high set.

Delta Tau Delta merrily took the Theta Delts for two games, faltered and failed on the final one. Theta Delta Chi easily won the final by 31 pins.

Acacia did likewise to Sigma Chi winning two and losing the last, while Phi Sig won their first game and then weakened in the middle to allow T. U. O. to roll successfully for one victory. Sigma Phi Epsilon failed to bowl Sigma Nu as the Snakes had thought they were matched with S. A. E., and as the boys of Sigma Alpha Epsilon were banqueting, therefore were not present. Kappa Alpha were at the bowling emporium in full force ready for the S. A. E.'s but failed to roll.

High games: Careida (D. T. D.), Edmonston (S. X.) 126. High set: Kappa Sigma, 1558—High game, Phi Sigma Kappa, 547.

Rote, Aquatic Star, Entered in Contests

Consistent Performer Holds Several District Swimming Marks

Consistently George Washington University's outstanding swimmer of this season and holder of numerous A. A. U. records for the District of Columbia as well as several Ambassador Hotel pool marks, Max Rote stands head and shoulders above his nearest rivals.

Before matriculating at the University, Max was an outstanding performer at Central High School under Coach Brunner's tutelage where he gained second honors in the 100 yard free style in the South Atlantic competition. Last year, while Max was a freshman, both the 50 and 100 yard free style records fell before his determined onslaught in the A. A. U. meet. After his record-breaking performance last Saturday against Duke University when he equaled the Ambassador Hotel record of 1:08 1-5, in the 100 yard backstroke, Capt. Rote increased his string of record-breaking exhibitions to three. He previously garnered the 50 and 100 yard records for this pool last year.

Coach A. Lyman contemplates entering Capt. Rote both in the National Intercollegiate Meet to be held at the Naval Academy on March 18 and 19 and the District A. A. U. meet on the same dates. In the latter meet Max will probably compete in the 200 yard relay in addition to defending his crown in the 50 and 100 yard dashes. If he shows up well in the Intercollegiate competition Max has an eye on the Olympic trials at Cincinnati in June.

Colonial Swimmers Face Final Meets

Freshmen Finish Saturday; Varsity to Enter National Inter-collegiate

Coach Albert Lyman's Colonial varsity natators will close a successful season on March 18, 19 when they enter both the District A. A. U. Championships to be held at the Shoreham Hotel and the National Intercollegiate Championships at the Naval Academy. The inter-collegiate will be staged in the afternoon and the A. A. U. meet in the evening. The yearlings and their season this Saturday against the Baltimore Y. M. H. A. swimming team at Baltimore.

An enthusiastic George Washington team determined to win the team championship of the District of Columbia will be entered in the A. A. U. meet. Captain Max Rote, dash man, and Gale Heslop, fancy diver, will be the two Colonials to compete in the National Inter-collegiate meet. Both have been outstanding on the team this year and if past performances are taken into consideration they will show up well.

The active member and pledge of each sorority who attained the highest average in their group, and the highest rating non-sorority woman in each of the four classes will be guests at this affair.

Dr. Martin Initiated By Delta Phi Epsilon

Is Well Known for Research Work in Field of Economic Geography

At a special meeting of Delta Phi Epsilon Tuesday night, March 1, Dr. Howard H. Martin was initiated into the fraternity. For a man of academic pursuits, Dr. Martin has had a varied and colorful foreign service career. He has done both undergraduate and graduate work at George Washington University.

During the Peace Conference at Versailles, Dr. Martin was attached to the American Embassy after which he took up graduate study with Dr. J. Russell Smith whose textbook is well known. At the Wharton School of Commerce and Finance, he specialized in Economic Geography and Foreign Trade and later followed Professor Smith to Columbia University where he became his research assistant. After several years with Professor Smith, he returned to G. W. to study under Dr. Donaldson on the subject of Economic Geography and International Relations, and to receive his Ph. D. degree which was conferred in June, 1928.

Council Announces Patrons For Interfraternity Prom

After the march the presentation of cups to winners of interfraternity sports and the sale of the Raspberry will occupy the balance of intermission, which will take the place of Dance No. 6. At 12:30 the program dancing will recommence to last until two o'clock. Cutting will be allowed on the third number of each group, as in the first hour.

Paul Tremaine and his 15 piece orchestra are making a special trip to Washington to appear at the Interfraternity Prom. It is the first attempt in several years to obtain outside talent to play, and Tremaine, with his high reputation, will provide an extra attraction to the patrons.

WHO'S WHO ON THE CAMPUS

Evelyn Eller

Personality plus, business efficiency, academic excellence, journalistic ability, and social grace are the qualities which combine to make Evelyn Eller one of the most outstanding young women at the University.

"Eller" started on her business career in 1929 as assistant office manager and because of her efficiency was appointed office manager and secretary to the Graduate Manager of Publications for the year 1931-32.

As evidence of her scholastic excellence "Eller" has been on the Honor Roll for four years and was elected to Sphinx, honorary scholastic fraternity for women. She is secretary-treasurer of this organization for the current year.

Starting at the "bottom of the ladder" in publications at the University, "Eller" is now society editor on the "Cherry Tree" and has served on the copy staff and in various assistant capacities. She was a member of the board of editors for the 1931 Handbook.

She has recently been pledged to Gamma Eta Zeta, honorary journalistic sorority.

She is a charter member and secretary of Phi Pi Epsilon, foreign service fraternity for women and a pledge to Hour Glass Honor Society.

member of the Drama Appreciation Club, Riding Club, and Debut. Her social sorority is Kappa Kappa Gamma.

Ruth DeVane is business manager of Troubadours, and assistant dramatic editor of the Cherry Tree. She is a member of the Swimming Club. Chi Omega elected her president of its group this year.

Evelyn Eller has distinguished herself in publications. She is society editor and business assistant on the Cherry Tree Staff, and she has also worked on the copy staff. She is office manager of The Hatchet, and secretary to the graduate manager of publications. She serves on the editorial staff as well. She is secretary of Phi Pi Epsilon and secretary-treasurer of Sphinx.

Harrington, Hatchet Editor

Cecile Harrington is on the board of editors of The Hatchet and assistant editor of the Handbook of 1930. She is president of Sphinx, and of Gamma Eta Zeta, is treasurer of Phi Pi Epsilon, and a member of Pi Gamma Mu. She is president of Alpha Delta Pi.

Louise James is secretary of the W. A. A. Board, and has demonstrated her ability particularly in athletic activities. She is a member of the Hockey/Honorary Varsity Team.

Ruth Molyneux distinguished herself in Troubadours. She is on the debating team, and is a member of the Cherry Tree staff. She is a pledge for Kappa Kappa Gamma.

Schaub, Cherry Tree Editor

Pauline Schaub is Editor of the 1932 Cherry Tree. She worked on The Hatchet during 1928 and 1929 and is a pledge of Gamma Eta Zeta. She was an assistant manager of the Rifle Team. She belongs to Phi Pi Epsilon. Her social sorority is Pi Beta Phi, of which she is president.

Kathleen Watkins is a member of the Student Council from Junior College, president of the Baptist Student Union, and on the W. A. A. Board. She was a member of the Troubadours this year. The French Club is one of her "hobbies." She is working on the 1932 Cherry Tree Staff. She is Panhellenic delegate from her social sorority, Alpha Delta Pi.

Hour Glass feels called upon to point out the general inertia among the freshmen and sophomores particularly, as far as extracurricular activities are concerned. Heretofore the annual quota of fifteen new members was easily filled, while now, according to the old standards, no woman on the campus would be eligible. The nine women most prominent in activities in general on the campus have been chosen. They have distinguished themselves, and Hour Glass is recognizing their achievement by offering them membership within its exclusive group.

Two Honor Societies Have Joint Banquet

Alpha Lambda Delta and Phi Eta Sigma Initiate Ranking Freshmen

A joint installation banquet was held at the Kennedy-Warren Friday, March 4, by Alpha Lambda Delta and Phi Eta Sigma, freshman honor fraternities. Those initiated into Alpha Lambda Delta were Betty Brown, Jane Edwards, Helen Lyons, Adele Meriam, Letha Scott, and Helen Waters. The men initiated into Phi Eta Sigma were Everett Bellows, Lewis Clark, Earl Hackworth, James Lewis, W. H. Magruder, Bernie Phillips, William Pearson, Bernheim Rex, Israel Schulman, Sylvan Steiner, and Frederick Stevens.

The speakers introduced by Joseph Danzansky, toastmaster, were Helen Clark, president of Alpha Lambda Delta; Robert Harvey, vice president of Phi Eta Sigma; Mildred Burnham, of Alpha Lambda Delta; and Anna Pearl Cooper, guest of honor.

Entertainment was furnished by Alpha Eta Epsilon, dramatic fraternity, under the direction of Dan Beattie, who played several selections on the piano, including one of his own compositions. Songs were sung by Armen Bakshian, Mildred Burnham, and Joseph Danzansky, members of Alpha Eta Epsilon.

Sleep Arts Course Is Blissful Respite

Four times a week, four fortunate maidens retire to a small room on the third floor of building R, stretch out on soft, downy couches, and savor the blissful sleep of righteousness. While we toil wearily at our history, botany, psychology, or French, they slumber peacefully on. The doctor tells them that they are alarmingly underweight, or terribly unfit physically. So, instead of being made to trot around a hockey field, or scamp over a basketball court, or sit around in bathing suits, they are made to lie down, in deep, enveloping silence, broken only by the monotonous, drowsy tick-tick of the faithful alarm, and, of course, by occasional knocks on the door, with whispered requests for Dr. Chapman, or the soft tread of light footsteps on the stairs. No one is allowed to disturb them—they must rest in calm, deep slumber. And when, at the end of an hour, the musical tinkle of the alarm calls them back to the busy world, they are well fortified to meet all the cares of the day. Refreshed, they descend with a superior air, and smile smugly. They get credit for sleeping in class!

Panhellenic Conference

Delegates Report

On Indianapolis Meeting

Ruth Warren, and Kathleen Watkins were delegates to the Fifth Annual Conference of Intercollegiate Panhellenic Associations of urban universities held at Indianapolis, February 12 and 13, reported on this conclave at a recent meeting of the Panhellenic Council.

In planning rush rules, the conference favored a short, open rush period near the beginning of school.

The conference urged the chapters to eliminate unnecessary and needless entertainment in order to lower the dues at this time. It was also suggested that loan funds be established to aid girls unable to carry sorority expenses during the depression.

"PROM" FROCKS--- for the 18th

Of course you're going—and of course you want to look your most fascinating self—so, of course, the logical thing is a new frock. Do make this an excuse for getting one—and seeing these before you make the momentous decision. And another thing—prices won't stretch the clothes budget too far—they begin at $16.50.

MISS'ES' FROCKS—THIRD FLOOR

DAILY LENTEN SPECIALS

HAVE IT Your OWN WAY!

Without reluctance we admit that you students are finding things to like about Jenner's—the food specials, the dining rooms, and the prices. Secretly, when we opened last January, we thought you would. And it keeps up! It seems that new students come in every day (and come back).

Yes, you win all right. We can't argue against obvious facts. You have to be practical in eating—and practical you can be at Jenner's.

We freely grant you the last word—come in and see. We'll agree with you!

The Constitution of the Student Council Of The George Washington University

PREAMBLE

WE THE STUDENTS of The George Washington University, having been duly elected from the respective departments and empowered by the students of the University to establish and formulate a student government to act in matters concerning the Student Body, do establish a student organization to be known as the Student Council of The George Washington University.

ARTICLE I

Section 1. The name of this organization shall be the Student Council of The George Washington University.

Section 2. The Student Council shall have the power to act as an administrative, legislative and judicial organization in matters affecting the student body. All organized student activities, except those which are controlled by a special board or faculty committee, are under the supervision of the Student Council, subject to the approval of the President of the University. Without the consent and approval of the Student Council no student organization which in any way represents the University before the public or which purports to be a University organization or organization of University students, except those which are controlled by a special board or faculty committee, may use the name of the University in connection with its members as students.

ARTICLE II

Section 1. The members of this body shall be elected each year by the students of their respective departments as hereinafter prescribed.

Section 2. Every department shall be entitled to at least one representative. Every department having between seven hundred and fifty and fifteen hundred students enrolled therein shall be entitled to two representatives. Every department having fifteen hundred or more students enrolled therein shall be entitled to three representatives. No department shall be entitled to more than three representatives.

Section 3. A student to be eligible for membership on the Student Council shall be enrolled in the department he seeks to represent, shall be in good academic standing, and shall have completed a minimum of fifteen semester hours' work in this University at the time of his election, and shall have been elected in accordance with ARTICLE III.

ARTICLE III

Section 1. The representatives of the Student Council shall be elected each year during the last school week in April. These elections shall be administered and regulated in a manner prescribed by the by-laws of the Student Council.

Section 2. The newly elected representatives shall meet with the Student Council but shall have no part in the proceedings thereof until the expiration of the school year. At the last regular meeting of the year, the newly elected members shall organize as the Student Council for the ensuing year.

Section 3. A student, to be an eligible candidate at said election, shall have a petition which shall be in the form of a nomination signed by at least five per cent of the students he seeks to represent. This petition is to be filed with the Student Council at a time and manner prescribed by the by-laws of the Student Council. The candidate shall sign an affidavit prior to the elections, the contents of which shall be set forth in the by-laws of the Student Council and which affidavit must include a statement that, to the best of his knowledge, he will be enrolled in the department from which he is a candidate for the ensuing year.

Section 4. When a vacancy occurs in the representation of any department, said vacancy shall be filled by the defeated candidate of the department wherein the vacancy occurs, having the highest number of votes at the previous election. In the absence of any defeated candidate, the vacancy shall be filled by an election in said school under the direction of the Student Council. If the vacancy occurs before the end of the first semester, if the vacancy occurs during the second semester, the Student Council shall appoint a representative from that department to fill the vacancy.

Section 5. No student shall serve upon the Student Council for more than two successive years.

ARTICLE IV

Section 1. The Student Council shall hold regular meetings at a time and place prescribed by the by-laws of the Student Council not greater than two weeks apart.

Section 2. The President of the Student Council shall have authority to call a special meeting of the Student Council whenever he deems such meeting necessary.

Section 3. All meetings of the Student Council shall be conducted in accordance with Roberts' Rules of Order, unless otherwise stipulated.

Section 4. No business may be disposed of in the absence of a quorum. A quorum shall consist of a simple majority of the total membership of the Student Council.

Section 5. No action shall be taken by the Student Council which affects only one particular department unless the representative or representatives of that department shall be present. However, in the event that such full representation of a department shall fail to appear at two successive meetings of the Student Council, action may be taken at the second meeting or subsequent meetings at the discretion of the Student Council.

ARTICLE V

Section 1. The officers of the Student Council shall consist of a president, a first vice president, a second vice president, a secretary, and a treasurer.

Section 2. The officers of the Student Council shall be elected from the Student Council by the Student Council and every officer shall be elected by a majority vote of the total membership of the Student Council. Any member of the Student Council is eligible to hold any one office.

Section 3. Any officer of the Student Council may be removed by a three-fourths majority vote of the total membership of the Student Council.

ARTICLE VI

Section 1. Any member of the Student Council may be expelled by a three-fourths majority vote of all members of the Student Council. It is expressly provided, however, that such member shall receive written notice of this proposed action at least one week prior to such action, in order that he may appear before the Student Council with such defense as he deems necessary.

ARTICLE VII

Section 1. This Constitution may be amended by a three-fourths majority vote of the total membership of the Student Council, but this Constitution shall in no way be amended so as to deprive any school of its right to representation upon the Student Council.

ARTICLE VIII

Section 1. The by-laws of the Student Council may be repealed or altered by a simple majority vote of the total membership of the Student Council.

Richardson Reads Paper To Philosophical Society

A paper on Organic Idealism was recently read before the Society for Philosophical Inquiry, by Professor Edward Elliot Richardson, president of that society.

This paper purports to show that there is a necessary relation between mind and nature, between finite and infinite. "If this is correct," says Dr. Richardson, "it would overcome both dualism, pantheism, and also subjective idealism as well as materialism."

Sigma Alpha Epsilon Has Founder's Day Celebration

Sigma Alpha Epsilon celebrated its seventy-sixth anniversary with a banquet in the Palm Court of the Shoreham Hotel Saturday evening. The dinner, sponsored by the local alumni association of the fraternity, was attended by 150 active and alumni members.

A portrait of William Lyne Wilson, one of the founders of the Washington City Rho chapter, was presented to the active members by Judge Alfred K. Nippert of Cincinnati, eminent supreme archon, and donor of the portrait. Mr. Wilson was Postmaster General under President Cleveland.

Heading the list of distinguished speakers was Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi, toastmaster of the occasion, who introduced Senator John H. Bankhead of Alabama, Representative Robert R. Butler of Oregon, and Daniel C. Roper, the other speakers on the program.

The By-Laws of the Student Council Of The George Washington University

ARTICLE I

Section 1. The President shall preside over all meetings and shall serve as a member ex-officio of all committees.

Section 2. The two vice presidents shall act as permanent chairmen of at least two standing committees.

Section 3. The secretary shall keep the minutes of all meetings and shall be responsible for the prompt dispatch of all notices.

Section 4. The treasurer shall administer all affairs relating to finances.

ARTICLE II

Section 1. When a vacancy occurs in the offices of the Student Council, the Student Council shall fill the vacancy by an election. If the office is that of President, any member of the Student Council may be elected. If the office is any other than that of President, it shall be filled from among the members not holding office.

ARTICLE III

Section 1. The Student Council will select each year a day, at least thirty days prior to the Student Council elections, for the publishing of an election notice in each school. The election notice shall clearly state the time and place of the elections, the number of representatives each school is entitled to have and all petition requirements, including the required number of signatures.

Section 2. All candidates to be eligible must have their petitions on file at least fourteen days prior to the elections at a place designated by the Student Council in the election notices.

Section 3. It shall be the duty of an election committee to ascertain and to certify that each petition is in all respects valid in that it has the requisite number of signers, all of whom are in the department which they seek to represent, and that said petition was received fourteen days prior to the date set for the elections.

Section 4. The names of the eligible candidates shall be published not later than nine days prior to the elections.

Section 5. The elections shall be held in a place and manner to be determined by the Student Council.

Section 6. If a department is entitled to only one representative, no student in that department shall sign more than one petition. If a department is entitled to more than one representative no student in that department shall sign a greater number of petitions than the number of representatives that department is entitled to.

If this by-law is violated, the name shall be stricken from all petitions whereon it appears.

Section 7. The candidate shall sign an affidavit prior to the elections to the effect that to the best of his knowledge, he will be enrolled in the department from which he is a candidate for the ensuing year.

Law School Dinner, Dance Feature Attraction of Week

ten can be arranged for. During dinner a section of the University Band will play dinner music interspersed by several of the Law School songs.

A five course dinner is on the menu and together with the speakers, music, and dance orchestra, the "Law School Annual" promises a brilliant evening. Student tickets for dinner and dance will be $2 per person; and $2.50 per person for alumni and faculty.

There has been the suggestion that arrangements be made for attending the dance only, but nothing will be done until after the number of dinner tickets to be reserved is definitely known. Those who plan to make up groups for separate tables are urged to purchase tickets at once because the hotel requires at least 24 hours notice as to the number of covers to be expected. Late applicants are not guaranteed either dinner or dance tickets whether with or without reservations.

The musical program during dinner, which is in charge of Professor Hector G. Spaulding of the Law School, will include choir singing of original songs.

Committee Members

Faculty members of the committee making arrangements for the dinner are: Gilbert L. Hall, chairman, James Forrester Davison, James O. Murdock, Clarence A. Miller, and Helen Newman, secretary of the Law School.

Tickets may be obtained from any of the above as well as from any member of the student committee which consists of Grace White, James Fulbright, Mary Crow, Charles Smoot, John Black, Gordon Biddle, Stanley Miller, Myron Anderson, A. Kramer, William Christenson, Harry Cockrill, Mark Rathburn, Julian Dell, Glen Hardy, Abraham Book, Josiah Lyman, John Hoffman, Elizabeth Dickson, Charles Remsen, Mrs. Bessie Eichler, Charles Y. Chittick, William W. Robinson, Theodore Rinehart, John Jackson, Stuart Barnes, John Cady, Truman Young, Albert W. Perry, Marguerite Rewalt, Katherine Grubb, Mrs. Catherine Hoffman, Louise Feinstein, George Wallace, and Donald Dudley. The Alumni Committee is composed of the following: Matthew H. O'Brien, Jr., H. Clay Espey, Oliver Geiger, Frederick L. Pearce, and James O. Wrightson, Jr.

Each freshman at the University of Minnesota is required to pay two dollars for expenses in order to be qualified for rushing by any fraternity on the campus.

Do you respond to your SURROUNDINGS?

Are you one of those people of fine tastes whose most pleasant experiences are sometimes spoiled by little aggravations? At dinner time, for instance, does the mere matter of a bent fork mar the enjoyment of a good meal? Do glaring lights and walls annoy you? Does the usual clutter of dishes grate on your nerves?

If you respond to a quiet atmosphere, refined appointments, and superlative food, you should surely come to the McReynolds and try this new "Student Dinner"—We promise that you'll enjoy it!

George B. McClellan; President William Coleman Nevils, of Georgetown University; Mr. and Mrs. Newbold Noyes; Dr. Herbert P. Putnam; Rector James H. Ryan of Catholic University; Dr. and Mrs. James Brown Scott; Canon and Mrs. Anson Phelps Stokes; and Mr. and Mrs. Marie Thorpe.

Visit Includes Lectures
Dr. Hauptmann's visit to this country, honoring the memory of Goethe, has been arranged by the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace. It includes addresses at Columbia University, Harvard University, Johns Hopkins University, and the George Washington University. Arriving in Washington yesterday evening, Dr. Hauptmann will be presented to President Hoover at 12:15 today by the German Ambassador.

In an editorial, the New York Herald Tribune comments: "It is not, therefore, to be wondered at that the current production in Berlin of Gerhart Hauptmann's 'Before Sunset,' written forty-three years after 'Before Sunrise' was first produced, should grip the imagination of the German people and revive their admiration for the dramatic gifts of the man who has been hailed as the greatest national writer since Goethe. In welcoming Herr Hauptmann upon the occasion of his first visit to these shores since 1924 the United States has an opportunity at first hand to see and hear the possessor of one of the keenest intellects of contemporary Germany."

Summer Sessions To Offer Program Of Social Studies

Courses Offered Will Be in Keeping with Bicentennial Celebration

Continuing the program instituted last year, the Summer Sessions will offer many special courses in its participation in the Bicentennial celebration.

In accord with Washington's expressed desire for instruction at the National Capital in "the principle of politics and good government," the University will emphasize courses in the social studies. In addition, special schedules have been prepared in the fields of teacher-training and the natural sciences. These are types of academic work which profit especially by the resources of the Federal government and other institutions in Washington and which the University, because of its situation, is in the position to organize.

A full program of academic and professional courses in other branches of the University completes the summer curricula.

Many Experts on Staff

Many members of the resident faculty will teach during the summer months offering basic courses, and several distinguished professors from other universities, as well as experts of the United States government, have been added to the staff to give specialized courses.

The Summer Sessions will be held as follows: Nine weeks' term, June 20 to August 20; six weeks' term, July 5 to August 13. In the Law School the first term will be from June 20 to August 3, and the second term from August 4 to September 17.

The School of Government will give special attention to the general subject of Latin America. In addition to a background course in Hispanic American history, an unusual seminar-conference in Hispanic American affairs will be offered, giving students an exceptional opportunity to come into intimate contact with leading authorities in the field.

Courses for teachers will be offered

Committee on Catholic Information Organized In Local Newman Club

The George Washington University Newman Club has appointed a Catholic information committee to operate as a unit under the Catholic Information Bureau of the Federation of College Catholic Clubs. The G. W. unit is the first to be formed under a program being directed by Rev. John Cleary, member of the board of governors of the Federation. The principal objective of the committee is to provide a means whereby all interested persons can seek and obtain information concerning things Catholic.

Detailed information concerning the work of the committee will be given at the meeting of the Newman Club, to be held in Corcoran Hall 10, March 9, when the matter of cooperation with club members will be discussed. Hilda Zwilling is chairman of the committee. A movie program to include scenes taken in one of the National Parks will be presented at Thursday's meeting.

In the School of Education which are new in material and presented by distinguished visiting specialists. The courses this year are arranged definitely to meet the needs of teachers of the various school levels. There are courses for teachers of very young children, for those who teach in the intermediate grades, and for junior and senior high school teachers.

Three seminars will provide opportunity for instructors of teachers' colleges and other advanced students to work on research problems, utilizing the library of the Office of Education and other resources not available elsewhere than in Washington. This year, for the first time, the six weeks' term will contain many courses of particular interest and value to teachers, thus giving them the opportunity to take work other than the professional courses of the School of Education.

A cycle of field courses which not only are inter-related, but which serve as a groundwork for research in Geology, Botany, Zoology, is the special offering in the field of natural sciences. The Summer Sessions are under the direction of Dean Robert Whitney Bolwell.

Engineering Banquet Date Set for April 9

Prominent Speakers Invited to Attend
Affair at Mayflower

April 9 has been announced as the date of the Annual Engineering Banquet, sponsored by a committee of students, to be given in the Italian Garden at the Mayflower Hotel. Dean John B. Lapham of the engineering school has endorsed the banquet and will be present at the speakers table to welcome students, guests, and speakers.

Prominent speakers who have signified their willingness to attend are: Major General Amos A. Fries, U. S. Army, retired, former chief of the Chemical Warfare Service; and Roe Fulkerson, magazine and newspaper writer, and humorist. Honor guests of the evening will include the chairmen of the local branches of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers, the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, and the American Society of Civil Engineers, as well as the executive secretary of the American Engineering Council.

Chairman Turner announces that an elaborate entertainment program is being prepared for the occasion, and that those in charge of the Mayflower cuisine have assured him of an inviting menu.

George Jackson is in charge of ticket sales. He has distributed tickets to all members of the committee and has placed them on sale in the office of the dean of the engineering school.

All engineers are asked to give their support to this project. The committee feels that a full evening of entertainment is assured to all who will attend.

Palestine schools have remained closed for more than a month because of a strike of 600 teachers for non-payment of salaries.

Willard Finds New Slang Expressions Used by "Palookas"

"O! Kay, pal! Let's scram!" is entering its second year as a popular slang expression here at the University. Professor Dudley Wilson Willard of the Sociology department has made a survey of slang expressions used around the campus and found that many of the expressions of the preceding year have been carried over, but there are also many new ones.

Terms of affection are somewhat changed. Now, her man calls her his "lil' squidgecum, tootsie-wootsie or lamb-pie, and she likes it! If you go to a fraternity brawl and your dog nonchalantly says: "Come on, snake, let's crawl," don't be excited, he's only asking you to dance.

Now, everything that is anything is called luvvly. Fraternity houses are luvvly, we have a luvvly time, and it was even a luvvly football game.

On the campus we no longer greet people with the staid and collegiate "hi!" Unless we yodel blissfully in the Swiss "Halloo" or scare some one with an Indian war whoop "Yah-hai" our greeting should be righteously ignored.

Men of the campus when your lil' lamb-pie becomes indignant and you can only answer "Boobots" to her arguments, don't feel high-hatted if she comes right back with "Miss Bobots to you, my good man."

Nowadays, everyone gets the jitters periodically, spasmodically, or in other words whenever it proves convenient. Also, if your drag is just a little screwy, that means he's tight, lit, woozey, pie-eyed, or half-shot.

You can call prominent people around the campus big fish, big palookas or big shots without offending them in the least and they won't even object to being called snooty, but woe be if you call them rummy, eggy, or cheesy. After all, collegiates, there's a decided distinction even in University slang.

Reverend Dr. A. J. Traver

Will Address Luther Club

The Reverend Dr. Amos J. Traver, of Frederick, Maryland, former executive secretary of the Luther League of America will speak to the Luther Club at its regular monthly meeting this evening at 8:15 in the Luther Place Memorial Church.

Dr. Traver is planning to stress the problems of the youth in the church. The club urges all Lutheran students to attend.

Good Friday the Luther Club will sponsor the chapel service in Corcoran Hall.

WHO'S WHO ON THE FACULTY

A man of marked initiative, unusual executive ability, keen perception and high integrity, Lowell Joseph Ragatz, Ph.D., associate professor of history at George Washington, is one of the most scholarly, successful, and beloved members of the faculty ever to teach at this University.

Born near Madison, Wisconsin, Dr. Ragatz, as he is affectionately known to the several thousand students who have enjoyed his acquaintance, finished his high school course at such a tender age that it was deemed best for him not to enter the state university immediately. Instead of idling his time away, he proceeded to don his first pair of long trousers and teach country school for two years until he was old enough to begin his college studies. The school he taught was of the very rural variety, with which most urbanites are unfamiliar. The pupils ranged from kindergartners to eighth-graders, and all received instruction in one room. His most interesting experience was teaching a family of Czech immigrants English through the use of German which both they and he spoke readily.

When Professor Ragatz entered the University of Wisconsin, his ability soon manifested itself and his college career was a very successful one, both scholastically and from the extra-curricula point of view. He was intensely interested in journalism and became well acquainted with the problems confronting campus publications. After having held every editorial position on the staff of the Daily Cardinal, the student daily, he was elected president of its board of control, in his senior year. At the same time, he was business manager of the Wisconsin Literary Magazine, one of the editors of the "Badger," the Wisconsin yearbook, the University correspondent for the Milwaukee Journal, and one of the founders and first editor of the Wisconsin Octopus, now a well-known monthly humor magazine. His studies were not being neglected meanwhile, for he was elected to Phi Beta Kappa, and graduated with distinction and thesis honors in 1920.

Enters Pennsylvania in 1921

After receiving his master's degree in colonial history at Wisconsin a year later, he transferred to the University of Pennsylvania, where he continued his studies while acting as a teaching fellow in European history. Then, desiring broader training in his chosen field, he went to Europe for two years and studied at the University of Grenoble in France, at the Sorbonne, at the College de France, at L'Ecole Libre des Sciences Politiques, and at the London School of Economics, specializing in international relations and modern imperialism. He received his doctor's degree soon after his return.

Coming to the George Washington University in 1924, Dr. Ragatz has risen rapidly to the rank of associate professor of history, gaining the admiration of his colleagues and the admiration of his students. He has taught at Johns Hopkins during the past two summer sessions and will be on the University of Nebraska faculty for the 1932 summer school.

Professor Ragatz has not devoted his entire time to the preparation of the clear, concise and remarkably interesting lectures for which he is noted. He has found time and opportunity to accomplish a great deal of research work, particularly in the field of British West Indian history. One of his books, "The Fall of the Planter Class in the British Caribbean, 1763-1833," was awarded the Justin Winsor prize of the American Historical Association.

Is Prolific Writer

Among his other published works are: "A Guide for the Study of British Caribbean History," "A Guide to the Official Correspondence of the Governors of the British West India Colonies with the Secretary of State, 1763-1833," catalogues of colonial documents, and several handbooks, syllabi, and review books. At present, Professor Ragatz is working on two textbooks, "Europe Since Waterloo," and "A History of Modern Imperialism."

Davis Prize Contest Subjects Should Be Of Campus Interest

Manuscripts Submitted by Seniors Up to March 26 Will Be Accepted;
Contest April 5

It is particularly important that topics for the Davis Prize Speaking contest should be of current interest on the campus, according to statements made by Professors Willard Hayes Yeager and Henry Goddard Roberts in speaking of preparation for this year's contest to be held April 5.

Manuscripts for this contest, which is open to all seniors, both men and women, must be submitted at the office of the Public Speaking Department in building Q before March 26.

Professor Yeager also stated that at the suggestion of Provost William Allen Wilbur and in accordance with a new policy of the administration the contest will be held at an All-University Assembly in Corcoran Hall. The honor of winning carries with it three awards in gold of $15, $10, and $5, respectively.

Professor Roberts is in charge of the contest and states that any student wishing any specific information on how to prepare may see him in building Q.

The speeches should be persuasive rather than informative and it is advisable to prepare an outline although only the manuscript must be submitted.

LOWELL JOSEPH RAGATZ

which are scheduled for publication in 1933 and 1935. In addition he edits the book publications of the American Historical Association, and has brought out four volumes in that capacity.

During his eight years at G. W., Dr. Ragatz has manifested great interest in student affairs. He was elected to Omicron Delta Kappa, honorary activities fraternity, in 1930. He has several times been voted the most popular professor at the University at the annual Y. W. C. A. County Fair.

One key to his popularity is to be found in his very remarkable memory. Though his classes number into the hundreds, Professor Ragatz can call every student in them by name within the second or third meeting of the class, thus spreading an atmosphere of general good will and making each student feel that personal interest is being taken in him.

In April, 1930, Dr. Ragatz returned from the Easter vacation with an even gayer twinkle than usual in his eyes. That week's Hatchet told the reason—his marriage to Mary Kathryn Parker, of Fort Worth, Texas, who had received her master's degree at Northwestern University shortly before. Mrs. Ragatz may be seen almost any evening accompanying her husband to and from classes. A charming and gracious girl, she is a familiar figure at University functions, many of which she and Professor Ragatz chaperon. And that isn't all—she is his constant collaborator in research and the critic before whom his lectures are rehearsed.
